Day 1

Our guides will meet you in Bozeman, MT, and shuttle you through Paradise Valley to our basecamp for the week, Wonderland Lodge. We'll have a short instructional snowshoe lesson before heading into Yellowstone and hitting the trails near the beautiful Mammoth Hot Springs

Day 2

This morning, we hitch a ride on the iconic Yellowstone Snow Coach. We'll strap on our snowshoes and walk on a gentle trail through rolling timbered terrain with panoramic views of the glorious peaks of the Gallatin Range, before reaching an overlook of Osprey Falls and continuing back into Mammoth.

Day 3

Today, our first stop is Norris Geyser Basin, the hottest, oldest, and most dynamic of Yellowstone's thermal areas. From there, our snow coach trundles along, likely experiencing a few "buffalo jams" (Yellowstone's version of traffic jams) before arriving at our next destination: the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone.

Day 4

Our first hike takes us to the end of the Yellowstone Canyon and the Tower Fall overlook, where Tower Creek drops 132-foot into the Yellowstone River. Our next hike starts at the Lamar Buffalo Ranch and follows Rose Creek up to one of three wolf acclimation pens built for the controversial reintroduction of wolves in the park in 1995. If there is enough time today, you'll have the option this afternoon or evening to soak in the natural mineral waters of Yellowstone Hot Springs.

Day 5

We'll get up early to enjoy one last snowshoe down the old stagecoach road from Mammoth all the way back down to our hotel in Gardiner, with beautiful vistas of towering snow-covered peaks, herds of bison and elk, and the glittering waters of the Yellowstone and Gardiner Rivers below us.
